

State of Maryland, Sc.
 Anne-Arundel county, Orphans Court
 August 10th 1824.
 On application by petition of John Thomas administrator of Sarah Spurrier late of Anne-Arundel county deceased, it is ordered that he give the notice required by law for creditors to exhibit their claims against the said deceased, and that the same be published once in each week for the space of six successive weeks, in the Maryland Gazette.
 THOMAS H. HALL,
 Reg. Wills A. A. County.

Notice is hereby Given.
 That the subscriber of Anne-Arundel county, hath obtained from the orphans court of Anne-Arundel county, in Maryland, letters of administration, on the personal estate of Sarah Spurrier late of Anne-Arundel county deceased. All persons having claims against the said deceased, are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof, to the subscriber, at or before the 12th day of February next, they may otherwise by law be excluded from all benefit of the said estate. Given under my hand this 10th day of August 1824.
 John Thomas, administrator.

State of Maryland, Sc.
 Anne-Arundel county, Orphans Court
 August 10th 1824.
 On application by petition of John Plummer, executor of the last will and testament of Julia Gibbs, late of Anne-Arundel county deceased, it is ordered that he give the notice required by law for creditors to exhibit their claims against the said deceased, and that the same be published once a week, for the space of six successive weeks, in the Maryland Gazette.
 THOMAS H. HALL,
 Reg. Wills A. A. County.

Notice is hereby Given,
 That the subscriber of Anne-Arundel county, hath obtained from the Orphans Court of Anne-Arundel county, in Maryland, letters testamentary on the personal estate of Julia Gibbs, late of Anne-Arundel county, deceased. All persons having claims against the said deceased, are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof, to the subscriber at or before the 12th day of February next, they may otherwise by law be excluded from all benefit of the said estate. Given under my hand this 10th day of August 1824.
 John Plummer, Executor.

University of Maryland Lottery.
 SECOND CLASS, NEW SERIES.
SCHEME.
 6 Prizes of $5,000 is $30,000
 6 Prizes of 1,000 is 6,000
 6 Prizes of 500 is 3,000
 6 Prizes of 213 is 1,278
 138 Prizes of 20 is 2,760
 690 Prizes of 12 is 8,280
 6,072 Prizes of 6 is 36,432
 6,924 Prizes. $87,750
 10,626 Blanks.

17,530 $87,750
 This is a Lottery formed by the ternary combination and permutation of 27 numbers. To determine the prizes therein, the 27 numbers, from 1 to 27 inclusive, will be publicly put into a wheel on the day of drawing, and four of them be drawn out; and these 6 tickets which shall have on them the 1st, 2d and 3d drawn numbers, shall each be entitled to a prize of $5,000. Those 6 other tickets which shall have on them the 2d, 3d and 4th drawn numbers, will each be entitled to a prize of $1,000. Those 6 other tickets which shall have on them the 1st, 2d and 4th drawn numbers, will each be entitled to a prize of $500.— Those 6 other tickets which shall have on them the 1st, 3d and 4th drawn numbers, will each be entitled to a prize of $213.— Those 138 tickets which shall have on them two of the drawn numbers, and one of the drawn numbers on, being 690, will each be entitled to a prize of $12; and those 690 tickets which shall have on them any one of the drawn numbers, will each be entitled to a prize of $6.
 No ticket which shall have drawn a prize of a superior denomination, can be entitled to an inferior prize.
 Prizes payable thirty days after the drawing, and subject to the usual deduction of fifteen per cent.
 This lottery will be drawn on Thursday the 11th day of November next, at the University Buildings in Baltimore.
 Tickets and Shares may be had for $6—Halves, $3—Quarters, $1.50.
 Packages of nine tickets, embracing the combination and permutation numbers of the lottery, (warranted to draw at least $20 40 net,) or shares of packages may also be had at the same rate. Apply at the MANAGER'S OFFICE, No. 175, MARKET STREET.

 Those who may prefer paying only the difference between the price of a package, and what the package must of necessity draw, to advancing the entire value of the tickets, can have a certificate for a package of whole tickets for $33 60—Half do. for $16 80—Quarter do. for $8 40.
 Prizes in any of the lotteries of Maryland, Virginia, New-York, New-Jersey and Pennsylvania, will be received in payment. Orders enclosing the cash or prizes as above, (post paid,) for tickets or shares, will receive prompt attention, if addressed to
YATES & MINTYRE,
 Agents of the Managers, Baltimore
 July 22.

Tickets in the above Lottery for sale by J. GREEN, Annapolis.

SHERIFFALTY.
ROBERT WELCH, (of Bam.)
 Still continues to be a candidate for the office of Sheriff for Anne-Arundel county, and respectfully solicits the votes and influence of his fellow-citizens.

PRINTED AND PUBLISHED BY JONAS GREEN, CHURCH-STREET, ANNAPOLIS.
 Price—Three Dollars per Annum.
WEEKLY ALMANAC.
 1824—Sept. Sun Mon Tue Wed Thu Fri Sat
 2 Thursday 5 33 6 27
 3 Friday 5 35 6 25
 4 Saturday 5 36 6 24
 5 Sunday 5 37 6 23
 6 Monday 5 38 6 22
 7 Tuesday 5 39 6 21
 8 Wednesday 5 41 6 19

BALTIMORE PRICES CURRENT.
 Corrected Weekly.—From the American Farmer.
 Flour Howard-street $5 25—Do Wharf $5
 Do Susquehanna $5—Corn Meal per bbl. $2—Wheat white, 85 to 88—No. Red, 93 cts.—Corn 32—Rye per bushel 37 1-2 cts.—Jats 19 cts.—B. Eyed Peas, none—White Beans, none—Whiskey 27 cts.—Apple Brandy 35 cts.—Peas do. $1—Herrings, No. 1 $2 25—Do. do No. 2, $1 57 1-2—Do. old No. 1 $1 50—Do. do No. 2, $1 25—Shad, trimmed, $5 75—Untrimmed, $5 75—Flax Seed, rough, 75 cts.—Flax 1 cts.—Candles, Mould 12 1-2 cts.—Saxs, 7 cts.—Pork, Mess. $16 00—Do Prime, $12—Butter, 7 cts to 14 cts—Lard 9 cts.—Bacon, 6 to 7 cts.—Leather, Best Sole, 24 to 27 cts.—Feathers, 35 cts.
 TOBACCO—Fine yellow, 25 to 40, scarce—fine spangled, 16 to 20, do—fine red, 12 to 16 do.

To the Voters
 Of Anne-Arundel County.
 Fellow Citizens.—I am induced to offer myself a candidate to represent you in the next assembly of Maryland, under an apprehension that the time is approaching wherein I presume you will not apprehend it necessary for you to query, Is he of this or the other party? but rather is he honest, industrious and qualified? Is he one that doth desire the peace, improvement and prosperity of our country? Feeling conscious that those are my motives, I respectfully solicit your patronage; and if I should prove so successful as to be elected, I would presume that your favour would be more amply repaid by diligently endeavouring according to my capacity, to promote the best interests of my fellow citizens, than by any other, and am with respect your well wisher.
 ISAAC GARRISON.
 Elk Ridge, June 12 1824.

THE STEAM BOAT MARYLAND,
 Will commence her regular routes, on Wednesday, the 10th March at 7 o'clock, A. M. from Commerce street wharf, for Annapolis and Easton, leaving Annapolis, at half past 11 o'clock, for Easton, by way of Castle Haven, and on Thursday, the 11th, will leave Easton, by way of Castle Haven, the same hour for Annapolis and Baltimore, leaving Annapolis, at half past 2 o'clock, and continuing to leave the above places as follow:
 Commerce street wharf, Baltimore, on Wednesdays and Saturdays—and Easton, on Sundays and Thursdays, at 7 o'clock, during the season.
 Passengers wishing to proceed to Philadelphia will be put on board the Union Line of Steam Boats, in the Patuxent River, and arrive there by 9 o'clock next morning.
 The Maryland will commence her routes from Baltimore to Queenstown and Chestertown on Monday, the 13th day of March, leaving Commerce street wharf, at 9 o'clock every Monday, and Chestertown every Tuesday at the same hour, for Queenstown and Baltimore, during the season. Horses and carriages will be taken on board from either of the above places except Queenstown. All baggage at the risk of the owners.
 All persons expecting small packages or other freight will send for them when the boat arrives, pay freight and take them away.
 Captain Levin Jones, at Castle Haven, will keep horses and carriages for the conveyance of Passengers to and from Cambridge, without expense.
CLEMENT VICKARS.

State of Maryland, sc.
 Anne-Arundel County, Orphans Court, July 31st 1824.
 On application by petition of Lot Linticum administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of Nicholas R. Warfield late of Anne-Arundel county, deceased, it is ordered that he give the notice required by law for creditors to exhibit their claims against the said deceased, and that the same be published once in each week, for the space of six successive weeks, in the Maryland Gazette.
 THOMAS H. HALL,
 Reg. Wills. A. A. County.

State of Maryland, sc.
 Anne-Arundel County, Orphans Court, July 31st 1824.
 On application by petition of Robert Neilson, Richard H. Batten & Edward D. Ridgely, Executors of the last will and testament of Richard Ridgely late of Anne-Arundel county, deceased, it is ordered that they give the notice required by law for creditors to exhibit their claims against the said deceased, and that the same be published once in each week, for the space of six successive weeks in the Maryland Gazette.
 Thomas H. Hall, Reg. of Wills A. A. County.

State of Maryland, sc.
 Anne-Arundel County, Orphans Court, July 31st 1824.
 On application by petition of Philimon D. Warfield and Lot Linticum, administrators of Lloyd Warfield late of Anne-Arundel county, deceased, all persons having claims against the said deceased, are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof, to the subscribers, at or before the 31st day of February next, they may otherwise by law be excluded from all benefit of the said estate. Given under our hands this 31st day of July 1824.
 Philimon D. Warfield, Adm'r
 Lot Linticum

State of Maryland, sc.
 Anne-Arundel County, Orphans Court, July 31st 1824.
 On application by petition of Philimon D. Warfield and Lot Linticum, administrators of Lloyd Warfield late of Anne-Arundel county, deceased, all persons having claims against the said deceased, are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof, to the subscribers, at or before the 31st day of February next, they may otherwise by law be excluded from all benefit of the said estate. Given under our hands this 31st day of July 1824.
 Philimon D. Warfield, Adm'r
 Lot Linticum

State of Maryland, sc.
 Anne-Arundel County, Orphans Court, July 31st 1824.
 On application by petition of Philimon D. Warfield and Lot Linticum, administrators of Lloyd Warfield late of Anne-Arundel county, deceased, all persons having claims against the said deceased, are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof, to the subscribers, at or before the 31st day of February next, they may otherwise by law be excluded from all benefit of the said estate. Given under our hands this 31st day of July 1824.
 Philimon D. Warfield, Adm'r
 Lot Linticum

State of Maryland, sc.
 Anne-Arundel County, Orphans Court, July 31st 1824.
 On application by petition of Philimon D. Warfield and Lot Linticum, administrators of Lloyd Warfield late of Anne-Arundel county, deceased, all persons having claims against the said deceased, are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof, to the subscribers, at or before the 31st day of February next, they may otherwise by law be excluded from all benefit of the said estate. Given under our hands this 31st day of July 1824.
 Philimon D. Warfield, Adm'r
 Lot Linticum

State of Maryland, sc.
 Anne-Arundel County, Orphans Court, July 31st 1824.
 On application by petition of Philimon D. Warfield and Lot Linticum, administrators of Lloyd Warfield late of Anne-Arundel county, deceased, all persons having claims against the said deceased, are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof, to the subscribers, at or before the 31st day of February next, they may otherwise by law be excluded from all benefit of the said estate. Given under our hands this 31st day of July 1824.
 Philimon D. Warfield, Adm'r
 Lot Linticum

State of Maryland, sc.
 Anne-Arundel County, Orphans Court, July 31st 1824.
 On application by petition of Lot Linticum administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of Nicholas R. Warfield late of Anne-Arundel county, deceased, it is ordered that he give the notice required by law for creditors to exhibit their claims against the said deceased, and that the same be published once in each week, for the space of six successive weeks, in the Maryland Gazette.
 THOMAS H. HALL,
 Reg. Wills. A. A. County.

State of Maryland, sc.
 Anne-Arundel County, Orphans Court, July 31st 1824.
 On application by petition of Lot Linticum administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of Nicholas R. Warfield late of Anne-Arundel county, deceased, it is ordered that he give the notice required by law for creditors to exhibit their claims against the said deceased, and that the same be published once in each week, for the space of six successive weeks, in the Maryland Gazette.
 THOMAS H. HALL,
 Reg. Wills. A. A. County.

State of Maryland, sc.
 Anne-Arundel County, Orphans Court, July 31st 1824.
 On application by petition of Lot Linticum administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of Nicholas R. Warfield late of Anne-Arundel county, deceased, it is ordered that he give the notice required by law for creditors to exhibit their claims against the said deceased, and that the same be published once in each week, for the space of six successive weeks, in the Maryland Gazette.
 THOMAS H. HALL,
 Reg. Wills. A. A. County.

State of Maryland, sc.
 Anne-Arundel County, Orphans Court, July 31st 1824.
 On application by petition of Lot Linticum administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of Nicholas R. Warfield late of Anne-Arundel county, deceased, it is ordered that he give the notice required by law for creditors to exhibit their claims against the said deceased, and that the same be published once in each week, for the space of six successive weeks, in the Maryland Gazette.
 THOMAS H. HALL,
 Reg. Wills. A. A. County.

State of Maryland, sc.
 Anne-Arundel County, Orphans Court, July 31st 1824.
 On application by petition of Lot Linticum administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of Nicholas R. Warfield late of Anne-Arundel county, deceased, it is ordered that he give the notice required by law for creditors to exhibit their claims against the said deceased, and that the same be published once in each week, for the space of six successive weeks, in the Maryland Gazette.
 THOMAS H. HALL,
 Reg. Wills. A. A. County.

State of Maryland, sc.
 Anne-Arundel County, Orphans Court, July 31st 1824.
 On application by petition of Lot Linticum administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of Nicholas R. Warfield late of Anne-Arundel county, deceased, it is ordered that he give the notice required by law for creditors to exhibit their claims against the said deceased, and that the same be published once in each week, for the space of six successive weeks, in the Maryland Gazette.
 THOMAS H. HALL,
 Reg. Wills. A. A. County.

St. John's College.
 The visitors and governors of St. John's College, being desirous to render this Institution as extensively useful as may be practicable, and to diffuse the benefits and blessings of education, as far as is in their power, have reduced the price of tuition money to 24 dollars per annum. The visitors and governors feel perfectly justified in recommending to the public, the talents, assiduity, and department of the faculty, employed to superintend the instruction of the pupils, as well as the discipline which has been adopted in the institution, and which is faithfully, mildly, but energetically enforced. The visitors have not been unmindful of the accommodation of students coming from a distance; they are fully sensible of the tender solicitude of parents for the morals, health and domestic comforts of their children when separated from them; and have made arrangements, whereby students may be boarded in the most respectable families for 120 dollars; making the total expense for tuition and board only 144 dollars per annum. In consequence of the serious losses heretofore sustained by the institution from the failure of pupils to pay for their education, the visitors have deemed it expedient for sometime past, that the tuition money be paid quarterly in advance, and no pupil can be received into the College, without a compliance with this rule—a rule which most other public seminaries have found it necessary to adopt. The visitors and governors avail themselves of this occasion, to assure the public, that their endeavours to render St. John's College a blessing to the community, and an ornament to the state, shall be steady and unremitted; and they feel an honest conviction, that under the steady and energetic system pursued, St. John's will once more stand proudly, amongst the foremost literary institutions of the land, again resume its ancient reputation and dignity, become the nursery of valuable citizens for the commonwealth, and rear up from the rising generations, ornaments to their families, their college, and their country.
 Wm. E. Pinkney Secretary of the Board.

St. John's College.
 The visitors and governors of this Institution, have resolved to appoint a Teacher, whose duties shall be, to teach the English Language, grammatically, Writing, Arithmetic, Geography, Book Keeping, and to carry students through the Latin Grammar, and the elementary Latin Books. The salary is fixed at $500 per annum, together with one half of the whole amount of Tuition money. The price of tuition is fixed at $20 per annum. Candidates must make personal application, and undergo an examination with respect to their qualifications. The appointment will be made on Monday the 6th of September next, but applications may be made at any time until that day.
 By order of the Board,
 Wm. E. Pinkney, Sec.
 July 29.

St. John's College.
 The visitors and governors of this Institution, have resolved to appoint a Teacher, whose duties shall be, to teach the English Language, grammatically, Writing, Arithmetic, Geography, Book Keeping, and to carry students through the Latin Grammar, and the elementary Latin Books. The salary is fixed at $500 per annum, together with one half of the whole amount of Tuition money. The price of tuition is fixed at $20 per annum. Candidates must make personal application, and undergo an examination with respect to their qualifications. The appointment will be made on Monday the 6th of September next, but applications may be made at any time until that day.
 By order of the Board,
 Wm. E. Pinkney, Sec.
 July 29.

St. John's College.
 The visitors and governors of this Institution, have resolved to appoint a Teacher, whose duties shall be, to teach the English Language, grammatically, Writing, Arithmetic, Geography, Book Keeping, and to carry students through the Latin Grammar, and the elementary Latin Books. The salary is fixed at $500 per annum, together with one half of the whole amount of Tuition money. The price of tuition is fixed at $20 per annum. Candidates must make personal application, and undergo an examination with respect to their qualifications. The appointment will be made on Monday the 6th of September next, but applications may be made at any time until that day.
 By order of the Board,
 Wm. E. Pinkney, Sec.
 July 29.

St. John's College.
 The visitors and governors of this Institution, have resolved to appoint a Teacher, whose duties shall be, to teach the English Language, grammatically, Writing, Arithmetic, Geography, Book Keeping, and to carry students through the Latin Grammar, and the elementary Latin Books. The salary is fixed at $500 per annum, together with one half of the whole amount of Tuition money. The price of tuition is fixed at $20 per annum. Candidates must make personal application, and undergo an examination with respect to their qualifications. The appointment will be made on Monday the 6th of September next, but applications may be made at any time until that day.
 By order of the Board,
 Wm. E. Pinkney, Sec.
 July 29.

VALUABLE FARM.
 The subscriber offers for sale the FARM
 On which he now resides. Few Plantations are more fertile. The improvements are excellent, a very large and commodious dwelling house, with every convenient out house that can possibly be necessary—an abundance of fruit trees of every kind, of the best and most careful selection. This Farm contains about 350 acres, and joins the city of Annapolis, and has on it an abundance of fuel, and rail timber. Persons inclined to purchase, are invited to view this valuable estate, and for terms apply to
Wm. S. DUVALL,
 Jan. 15. 1824.

NOTICE.
 The Justice of the Levy Court of Anne-Arundel County, will meet at the Court-House in the city of Annapolis, the first Monday in September next. By order,
 Wm. S. GREEN, Clk.
 August 19.

NOTICE.
 The Justice of the Levy Court of Anne-Arundel County, will meet at the Court-House in the city of Annapolis, the first Monday in September next. By order,
 Wm. S. GREEN, Clk.
 August 19.

THE PET LAMB.
 From the Emporium.
 Every one who has been at Alesbury, has heard the story of the Pet Lamb.—Many summers ago, a sweet little blue eyed girl was to be seen, each morning as soon as the dew was off the grass, sporting in the meadow along the brook that runs between the village and the river, with the only companion in which she appeared to take delight, a beautiful snow white Lamb. It was the gift of a deceased sister—and the little girl was now an orphan. Her family had been wealthy, and respectable in early life, when they resided in Philadelphia, but her father, having met with some severe losses in trade, went to try his fortune in the East Indies, and the first news the family received afterwards was of his decease in Java. They were destitute, and being driven from the city by the breaking out of a malignant disease, were thrown by chance into the residence of a venerable old lady, who, having buried the mother and sister, came to Alesbury to spend her remaining days with her only charge, this engaging orphan. Left in this situation thus early in life, no wonder, poor girl, that she loved her little Lamb, the living token of a sister's sake; no wonder that a the affections of her heart should cling to the last object left to her desolate youth, and grow fresher and fresher as the grass grew greener over the sod that pressed the ashes of her kindred friends.
 The little creature was perfectly tame, and would follow its young mistress when permitted, through the village, wherever she went; and when she used to go to school on the village green, it would run after her and lie down in the shade of the trees until she was ready to return home with it. She washed its soft fleece and fed it with her own hands every day; and so faithful was she always in her attention to her pretty favourite that the villagers all loved her, and many a warm hope was expressed that she, like that heedless lamb, might find a friend and devoted protector, when the friend who was now her foster mother, and was fast wasting away beneath the weight of years should go down to the shades of the still tomb, and leave her, young and inexperienced, in a world of selfishness and vice.
 During the time her kind patron lived Clarissa was treated as a daughter. Contiguous to their dwelling was the residence of a well living farmer, whose little son used frequently to clamber over the styles into the meadow to see Clarissa and her Lamb, and in process of time their young hearts became knit together by a tie more tender than that which binds a brother and sister. It was thought they would be married—and they perhaps thought so too, for Charles' father often hinted that a union of the two places would be a delightful thing. But the old lady died; and her will fell into the hands of rogues, who destroyed it and succeeded in getting possession of the property.
 This was the death-blow of Clarissa's hopes; the intercourse between her and Charles was instantly broken off by his father—he was sent to a medical school at a distance, and she was forced to put herself out to service among families who had scarcely before presumed themselves entirely her equals. It was a bitter fortune but she bore it with heroic fortitude at first, for still she received through a private channel, frequent and affectionate letters from her brother Charles, as she called the young companion of her brighter fortunes; and still she had her little favourite lamb. But at last this secret correspondence

THE PET LAMB.
 From the Emporium.
 Every one who has been at Alesbury, has heard the story of the Pet Lamb.—Many summers ago, a sweet little blue eyed girl was to be seen, each morning as soon as the dew was off the grass, sporting in the meadow along the brook that runs between the village and the river, with the only companion in which she appeared to take delight, a beautiful snow white Lamb. It was the gift of a deceased sister—and the little girl was now an orphan. Her family had been wealthy, and respectable in early life, when they resided in Philadelphia, but her father, having met with some severe losses in trade, went to try his fortune in the East Indies, and the first news the family received afterwards was of his decease in Java. They were destitute, and being driven from the city by the breaking out of a malignant disease, were thrown by chance into the residence of a venerable old lady, who, having buried the mother and sister, came to Alesbury to spend her remaining days with her only charge, this engaging orphan. Left in this situation thus early in life, no wonder, poor girl, that she loved her little Lamb, the living token of a sister's sake; no wonder that a the affections of her heart should cling to the last object left to her desolate youth, and grow fresher and fresher as the grass grew greener over the sod that pressed the ashes of her kindred friends.
 The little creature was perfectly tame, and would follow its young mistress when permitted, through the village, wherever she went; and when she used to go to school on the village green, it would run after her and lie down in the shade of the trees until she was ready to return home with it. She washed its soft fleece and fed it with her own hands every day; and so faithful was she always in her attention to her pretty favourite that the villagers all loved her, and many a warm hope was expressed that she, like that heedless lamb, might find a friend and devoted protector, when the friend who was now her foster mother, and was fast wasting away beneath the weight of years should go down to the shades of the still tomb, and leave her, young and inexperienced, in a world of selfishness and vice.
 During the time her kind patron lived Clarissa was treated as a daughter. Contiguous to their dwelling was the residence of a well living farmer, whose little son used frequently to clamber over the styles into the meadow to see Clarissa and her Lamb, and in process of time their young hearts became knit together by a tie more tender than that which binds a brother and sister. It was thought they would be married—and they perhaps thought so too, for Charles' father often hinted that a union of the two places would be a delightful thing. But the old lady died; and her will fell into the hands of rogues, who destroyed it and succeeded in getting possession of the property.
 This was the death-blow of Clarissa's hopes; the intercourse between her and Charles was instantly broken off by his father—he was sent to a medical school at a distance, and she was forced to put herself out to service among families who had scarcely before presumed themselves entirely her equals. It was a bitter fortune but she bore it with heroic fortitude at first, for still she received through a private channel, frequent and affectionate letters from her brother Charles, as she called the young companion of her brighter fortunes; and still she had her little favourite lamb. But at last this secret correspondence

THE PET LAMB.
 From the Emporium.
 Every one who has been at Alesbury, has heard the story of the Pet Lamb.—Many summers ago, a sweet little blue eyed girl was to be seen, each morning as soon as the dew was off the grass, sporting in the meadow along the brook that runs between the village and the river, with the only companion in which she appeared to take delight, a beautiful snow white Lamb. It was the gift of a deceased sister—and the little girl was now an orphan. Her family had been wealthy, and respectable in early life, when they resided in Philadelphia, but her father, having met with some severe losses in trade, went to try his fortune in the East Indies, and the first news the family received afterwards was of his decease in Java. They were destitute, and being driven from the city by the breaking out of a malignant disease, were thrown by chance into the residence of a venerable old lady, who, having buried the mother and sister, came to Alesbury to spend her remaining days with her only charge, this engaging orphan. Left in this situation thus early in life, no wonder, poor girl, that she loved her little Lamb, the living token of a sister's sake; no wonder that a the affections of her heart should cling to the last object left to her desolate youth, and grow fresher and fresher as the grass grew greener over the sod that pressed the ashes of her kindred friends.
 The little creature was perfectly tame, and would follow its young mistress when permitted, through the village, wherever she went; and when she used to go to school on the village green, it would run after her and lie down in the shade of the trees until she was ready to return home with it. She washed its soft fleece and fed it with her own hands every day; and so faithful was she always in her attention to her pretty favourite that the villagers all loved her, and many a warm hope was expressed that she, like that heedless lamb, might find a friend and devoted protector, when the friend who was now her foster mother, and was fast wasting away beneath the weight of years should go down to the shades of the still tomb, and leave her, young and inexperienced, in a world of selfishness and vice.
 During the time her kind patron lived Clarissa was treated as a daughter. Contiguous to their dwelling was the residence of a well living farmer, whose little son used frequently to clamber over the styles into the meadow to see Clarissa and her Lamb, and in process of time their young hearts became knit together by a tie more tender than that which binds a brother and sister. It was thought they would be married—and they perhaps thought so too, for Charles' father often hinted that a union of the two places would be a delightful thing. But the old lady died; and her will fell into the hands of rogues, who destroyed it and succeeded in getting possession of the property.
 This was the death-blow of Clarissa's hopes; the intercourse between her and Charles was instantly broken off by his father—he was sent to a medical school at a distance, and she was forced to put herself out to service among families who had scarcely before presumed themselves entirely her equals. It was a bitter fortune but she bore it with heroic fortitude at first, for still she received through a private channel, frequent and affectionate letters from her brother Charles, as she called the young companion of her brighter fortunes; and still she had her little favourite lamb. But at last this secret correspondence

THE PET LAMB.
 From the Emporium.
 Every one who has been at Alesbury, has heard the story of the Pet Lamb.—Many summers ago, a sweet little blue eyed girl was to be seen, each morning as soon as the dew was off the grass, sporting in the meadow along the brook that runs between the village and the river, with the only companion in which she appeared to take delight, a beautiful snow white Lamb. It was the gift of a deceased sister—and the little girl was now an orphan. Her family had been wealthy, and respectable in early life, when they resided in Philadelphia, but her father, having met with some severe losses in trade, went to try his fortune in the East Indies, and the first news the family received afterwards was of his decease in Java. They were destitute, and being driven from the city by the breaking out of a malignant disease, were thrown by chance into the residence of a venerable old lady, who, having buried the mother and sister, came to Alesbury to spend her remaining days with her only charge, this engaging orphan. Left in this situation thus early in life, no wonder, poor girl, that she loved her little Lamb, the living token of a sister's sake; no wonder that a the affections of her heart should cling to the last object left to her desolate youth, and grow fresher and fresher as the grass grew greener over the sod that pressed the ashes of her kindred friends.
 The little creature was perfectly tame, and would follow its young mistress when permitted, through the village, wherever she went; and when she used to go to school on the village green, it would run after her and lie down in the shade of the trees until she was ready to return home with it. She washed its soft fleece and fed it with her own hands every day; and so faithful was she always in her attention to her pretty favourite that the villagers all loved her, and many a warm hope was expressed that she, like that heedless lamb, might find a friend and devoted protector, when the friend who was now her foster mother, and was fast wasting away beneath the weight of years should go down to the shades of the still tomb, and leave her, young and inexperienced, in a world of selfishness and vice.
 During the time her kind patron lived Clarissa was treated as a daughter. Contiguous to their dwelling was the residence of a well living farmer, whose little son used frequently to clamber over the styles into the meadow to see Clarissa and her Lamb, and in process of time their young hearts became knit together by a tie more tender than that which binds a brother and sister. It was thought they would be married—and they perhaps thought so too, for Charles' father often hinted that a union of the two places would be a delightful thing. But the old lady died; and her will fell into the hands of rogues, who destroyed it and succeeded in getting possession of the property.
 This was the death-blow of Clarissa's hopes; the intercourse between her and Charles was instantly broken off by his father—he was sent to a medical school at a distance, and she was forced to put herself out to service among families who had scarcely before presumed themselves entirely her equals. It was a bitter fortune but she bore it with heroic fortitude at first, for still she received through a private channel, frequent and affectionate letters from her brother Charles, as she called the young companion of her brighter fortunes; and still she had her little favourite lamb. But at last this secret correspondence

THE PET LAMB.
 From the Emporium.
 Every one who has been at Alesbury, has heard the story of the Pet Lamb.—Many summers ago, a sweet little blue eyed girl was to be seen, each morning as soon as the dew was off the grass, sporting in the meadow along the brook that runs between the village and the river, with the only companion in which she appeared to take delight, a beautiful snow white Lamb. It was the gift of a deceased sister—and the little girl was now an orphan. Her family had been wealthy, and respectable in early life, when they resided in Philadelphia, but her father, having met with some severe losses in trade, went to try his fortune in the East Indies, and the first news the family received afterwards was of his decease in Java. They were destitute, and being driven from the city by the breaking out of a malignant disease, were thrown by chance into the residence of a venerable old lady, who, having buried the mother and sister, came to Alesbury to spend her remaining days with her only charge, this engaging orphan. Left in this situation thus early in life, no wonder, poor girl, that she loved her little Lamb, the living token of a sister's sake; no wonder that a the affections of her heart should cling to the last object left to her desolate youth, and grow fresher and fresher as the grass grew greener over the sod that pressed the ashes of her kindred friends.
 The little creature was perfectly tame, and would follow its young mistress when permitted, through the village, wherever she went; and when she used to go to school on the village green, it would run after her and lie down in the shade of the trees until she was ready to return home with it. She washed its soft fleece and fed it with her own hands every day; and so faithful was she always in her attention to her pretty favourite that the villagers all loved her, and many a warm hope was expressed that she, like that heedless lamb, might find a friend and devoted protector, when the friend who was now her foster mother, and was fast wasting away beneath the weight of years should go down to the shades of the still tomb, and leave her, young and inexperienced, in a world of selfishness and vice.
 During the time her kind patron lived Clarissa was treated as a daughter. Contiguous to their dwelling was the residence of a well living farmer, whose little son used frequently to clamber over the styles into the meadow to see Clarissa and her Lamb, and in process of time their young hearts became knit together by a tie more tender than that which binds a brother and sister. It was thought they would be married—and they perhaps thought so too, for Charles' father often hinted that a union of the two places would be a delightful thing. But the old lady died; and her will fell into the hands of rogues, who destroyed it and succeeded in getting possession of the property.
 This was the death-blow of Clarissa's hopes; the intercourse between her and Charles was instantly broken off by his father—he was sent to a medical school at a distance, and she was forced to put herself out to service among families who had scarcely before presumed themselves entirely her equals. It was a bitter fortune but she bore it with heroic fortitude at first, for still she received through a private channel, frequent and affectionate letters from her brother Charles, as she called the young companion of her brighter fortunes; and still she had her little favourite lamb. But at last this secret correspondence

THE PET LAMB.
 From the Emporium.
 Every one who has been at Alesbury, has heard the story of the Pet Lamb.—Many summers ago, a sweet little blue eyed girl was to be seen, each morning as soon as the dew was off the grass, sporting in the meadow along the brook that runs between the village and the river, with the only companion in which she appeared to take delight, a beautiful snow white Lamb. It was the gift of a deceased sister—and the little girl was now an orphan. Her family had been wealthy, and respectable in early life, when they resided in Philadelphia, but her father, having met with some severe losses in trade, went to try his fortune in the East Indies, and the first news the family received afterwards was of his decease in Java. They were destitute, and being driven from the city by the breaking out of a malignant disease, were thrown by chance into the residence of a venerable old lady, who, having buried the mother and sister, came to Alesbury to spend her remaining days with her only charge, this engaging orphan. Left in this situation thus early in life, no wonder, poor girl, that she loved her little Lamb, the living token of a sister's sake; no wonder that a the affections of her heart should cling to the last object left to her desolate youth, and grow fresher and fresher as the grass grew greener over the sod that pressed the ashes of her kindred friends.
 The little creature was perfectly tame, and would follow its young mistress when permitted, through the village, wherever she went; and when she used to go to school on the village green, it would run after her and lie down in the shade of the trees until she was ready to return home with it. She washed its soft fleece and fed it with her own hands every day; and so faithful was she always in her attention to her pretty favourite that the villagers all loved her, and many a warm hope was expressed that she, like that heedless lamb, might find a friend and devoted protector, when the friend who was now her foster mother, and was fast wasting away beneath the weight of years should go down to the shades of the still tomb, and leave her, young and inexperienced, in a world of selfishness and vice.
 During the time her kind patron lived Clarissa was treated as a daughter. Contiguous to their dwelling was the residence of a well living farmer, whose little son used frequently to clamber over the styles into the meadow to see Clarissa and her Lamb, and in process of time their young hearts became knit together by a tie more tender than that which binds a brother and sister. It was thought they would be married—and they perhaps thought so too, for Charles' father often hinted that a union of the two places would be a delightful thing. But the old lady died; and her will fell into the hands of rogues, who destroyed it and succeeded in getting possession of the property.
 This was the death-blow of Clarissa's hopes; the intercourse between her and Charles was instantly broken off by his father—he was sent to a medical school at a distance, and she was forced to put herself out to service among families who had scarcely before presumed themselves entirely her equals. It was a bitter fortune but she bore it with heroic fortitude at first, for still she received through a private channel, frequent and affectionate letters from her brother Charles, as she called the young companion of her brighter fortunes; and still she had her little favourite lamb. But at last this secret correspondence

THE PET LAMB.
 From the Emporium.
 Every one who has been at Alesbury, has heard the story of the Pet Lamb.—Many summers ago, a sweet little blue eyed girl was to be seen, each morning as soon as the dew was off the grass, sporting in the meadow along the brook that runs between the village and the river, with the only companion in which she appeared to take delight, a beautiful snow white Lamb. It was the gift of a deceased sister—and the little girl was now an orphan. Her family had been wealthy, and respectable in early life, when they resided in Philadelphia, but her father, having met with some severe losses in trade, went to try his fortune in the East Indies, and the first news the family received afterwards was of his decease in Java. They were destitute, and being driven from the city